

metro HALIFAX 23 °C light drizzle click for details

login | register

news | scene | life | sports | drive | voices | horoscopes | games | comics | club metro

search metro web

HOT TOPICS ► Halifax Mooseheads ► James Cameron ► Metro Minute | LATEST: Access interference case sent to info czar

Home ► Local

Common to think pink for breast cancer

► Run for the Cure is the largest one-day volunteer driven fundraiser in Canada ► Donations up in HRM

ALLISON SAUNDERS
METRO HALIFAX
Published: October 01, 2010 1:18 a.m.
Last modified: October 01, 2010 1:25 a.m.

DAILY NEWS FILE PHOTO

Craig MacDonald takes part in the 2006 CIBC Run for the Cure in this file photo.

- Be the first to comment
- Print article
- Text size

The Halifax Common will be awash in a sea of pink on Sunday morning.

Halifax's 16th annual Run for the Cure will bring together runners of all abilities and ages who have been raising money for breast cancer research and education.

"For me, what I see is the change to a huge celebratory attitude. Ten years ago ... it was a sad event. Now it's a celebration," says Nancy Margeson, CEO of the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation-Atlantic Region.

The event draws about 8,500 people. Margeson says Halifax aims to break the million-dollar mark with funds raised, a feat that has been met in previous years.

Also championing the cause this weekend are the Toonies for Ta Ta's Fembots, who collect coins in downtown Dartmouth and Halifax Friday. The Fembots are part of the Titz'n'Glitz, campaign to assist local breast cancer survivors in financial need. Titz'n Glitz is also holding a benefit Retro Dance Party on October 15th.

most popular

- Hells Angels attended B.C. teen's funeral
- Police probing Dartmouth attack
- Herd needs more from older members
- Minister eyes red light ruling
- Mayor reaches out to business community

User Comments & Ratings Comment as guest Login to comment

more local stories

Police probing Dartmouth attack

editor's picks

20 years on, Germans reflect on reunification

FEATURED SPONSORS

Dairy Farmers of Canada

Get recipes and learn more about 100% Canadian Milk.

Ecuadorean